

FAMILY ENGAGEMENT INSTITUTE FOR EDUCATORS

In support of the recommendations in the Commissioner's Council on Mathematics Report, the Connecticut State Department of Education, in partnership with WestEd, is offering a three-day Family Engagement Institute for educators. This professional learning opportunity is focused on developing capacity for effective home and school partnerships focused on student academic success. The aim of this Institute is to support systems change and reorganization of school family engagement efforts in order to connect specific student learning goals with family supported learning in the home.
